Mrs. William Hodges Mann will receive in the Executive Mansion this afternoon from 4 to 7 o'clock. The lower floor will be decorated entirely in Kallianey roses and palms and a silver vase of the same flowers will be used on the tea table. Mrs. Mann, who will wear a gown of black velvet, trimmed in duchesse lace and embroidered in silver, will receive in the blue room. Assisting Mrs. Mann in receiving callers will be Mrs. George B. Keeney, of Rockingham county, who is a guest in the mansion. Mrs. Keeney's gown is of pale gray cloth, and both Mrs. Mann and her guest will carry big bunches of red roses. Mrs. F. N. Staples will pour tea.

The Woman's Club.

Yesterday afternoon was story-telling time at the Woman's Club, and Miss Edith Gordon Niles, of Chicago, lectured to the members of the club on "The Story Which is Art." Here was a talk of the revival of the old, old art of story-telling and its vital part in the training of children, and right happily did she present her subject. Miss Niles is a very fascinating woman. She drew a fairy ring about her audience and held them in the spell of her own wide, dark eyes and musical voice.

while she related the most enchanting tales you ever heard.

She said that the artistic story is worthy to stand on its own merit; that they are not merely tales to amuse, but windows through which one catches glimpses of the race. Rich in images and romances, they are the sincere, sincere and natural as young children. As a glimpse into the plot and construction of the fairy stories that live so eternally in the heart of a child, Miss Niles said they were very simple, and were born at a time when people really believed in witches and goblins and the invisible godmothers attending the christening of every baby. They were merely a group of pictures, fables and tales, and as such they held the interest. In the folk tale it is the great striving to understand and explain the mysteries of nature and the mind. All the human interest in the world is there; they are full of adventure and grand truths and are in reality literary masterpieces.

Several little stories were related and used as illustrations. Miss Niles has a subtle, charming manner and her stories went as smoothly and delightfully as little boats going out to sea. Someone has said that the nearly everything in the world reminds us of Mother Goose, "precious heritage of childhood," she called them. These melodies cultivate in the child a love of the musical flow of speech and make pictures for one's heart to turn lovingly back to in later years.

The legends and stories were so fascinating one could have sat all afternoon. Humor and pathos flitted through the word-pictures, lights and shadows played about the figures and distinctive characters in the tale, and the afternoon will live in the memory of the people there at the club yesterday.

Miss Lizzie Archer and Mrs. E. V. Valentine poured coffee, and Miss Warren, Mrs. Smith Brockenbrough and Mrs. Les were at the tea table. Mrs. H. A. Sampson was hostess, and Mrs. W. Shields was chairman. Owing to the absence of Mrs. Archer Jones from the city, the program for Wednesday's Round Table will be given by the chairman, Mrs. Mary Day Winn, who will be chairman of the afternoon, and will discuss Alfred Noyes and his poems.

German Last Night.

The last German given by the Richmond German Club this season took place last night in the ballroom of the Masonic Temple. The usual palms and bay leaves decorated the ballroom and in the dining-room appetizers were served. At 11 o'clock, primroses and daffodils decorated the tables. Colonel Jo Lane Stern led the German, dancing with Miss Emily Ruthertown Royall, who is one of the most prominent girls in society this winter. Miss Royall wears a French gown of pale blue tulle, with ruffles of cream-colored lace, and trimmed in little pink rosebuds, and her bouquet was orchids and lilies of the valley.

House Party at Virginia Beach.

Miss Virginia Gordon, of Norfolk, is entertaining a house party at her cottage at Virginia Beach for several days this week. Miss Gordon's guests include Misses Helen Stevens, Mary Moulton, Louise Seiden, Leslie P. Archer, Lizzie Hotchkiss, of Richmond; Nan Goodwin, of Fincastle; Mabel Allen and Eloise Waldrop, of Norfolk. Teatime hostesses.

One of the most interesting features of the Lenten season is the tea room in the palm garden of the Jefferson Hotel. This affair is gotten up every year by the Girls' Club, and is solely for a local charity. The tea tables are set around in the palm gardens of the hotel, and the guests are served with a French gown of pale blue tulle, with ruffles of cream-colored lace, and trimmed in little pink rosebuds, and her bouquet was orchids and lilies of the valley.

Miss Nancy L. Stampler will give a Valentine party this evening at her home on Twenty-third Street. Decorations will be in keeping with the feast of St. Valentine, and guests will include a number of Miss Stampler's friends.

Leap Year Dance.

A Leap Year dance was given on Thursday night of last week at Liberty Hall. The chaperons were Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Mann, Mr. and Mrs. C. Park Gary, Mr. and Mrs. John J. May, Jr., Miss Elizabeth Moore and Miss Margaret Robins were at the punch-bowl.

Mr. and Mrs. May led the German. Those dancing were Miss Grace Williams, with Mr. Chappell; Miss Mary Andrews, with Clark Stanwell; Miss Loua Atkinson, with Paul Atkinson; Miss Grace Owens, with Mr. Gentry; Miss Grace Schermerhorn, with John Schermerhorn; Miss Lucy Owens, with Harold Lewis; Miss Virginia Thornton, with Parker Thornton; Miss Cora, with Oliver Sutherland; Miss Moore, with Mr. Hoops; Miss Polly Alton, with Mr. Boyd; Miss Nannie Trent, with Drummond Curtis; Miss Mary Taylor, with Mr. Grier; Miss Gibbons, with Richard Hardesty; Miss Jennie Gary, with Reginald Mann; Miss Helen Smith, with Mr. Brooks; Miss Mamie Johnson, with Mr. Chewner; Miss Jessie McLean, with George McLean; Miss Gregory, with Mr. Shackelford; Miss Rosa Burton, with Lester Eggleston; Miss Sallie Hancock, with Gordon Miller; Miss Mosselle Robins, with Mr. Vorden; Miss Pearl Verby, with Clayton Verby; Miss Edith Barker, with Milton Barker; Miss Hazel Cheatwood, with Herbert Mann; Miss Mary Reid, with Hunter Jones; Miss Louise Hudspeth, with Mr. Harvey; Miss Elizabeth Andrews, with Henry Kelly; Miss Hattie Bryant, with Clarence Paul; Miss Alice Gary, with Arthur Mann; Miss Jamie Grier, with Mr. Shackelford; Miss Hazel Cheatwood, with Will Moore; Miss Marie Cheatwood, with Mr. Adams; Miss Katherine Rhodes, with Horace Christian; Miss Carrie Thornton, with Mr. Crowder; Miss Janet Christian, with Mr. Mobony; Miss Mamie Hall, with Mr. Sauer; Miss Kate Pranger, with Mr. Wright; Miss Uldine Valden, with Mr. Crowe; Miss Elizabeth Hall, with Mr. Black; Miss Grace James, with Elliott Harrelson.

The stage was Messrs. Johnson, Woodward, Christian, Parker and Jones.

Luncheon Yesterday. Mrs. George Franklin Hutchison gave a very pretty buffet luncheon at the Jefferson Hotel yesterday. Decorations were in spring flowers, and the table was ornamented with a big basket of jonquils and amillax.

Musical people in town are much interested in the organ recital that will be given at the Church of the Covenant, corner of Park Avenue and Harrison Street, this evening. The recital will be under the direction of Shepherd Webb. Miss Anna Reimold, Miss Mary McLean, Miss Helen Smith, and Miss Edith Meyer will sing. It will be a very interesting concert.

and a splendid program has been arranged.

Miss Anne Douglas Beverley, who has been the guest of Mr. Richard Evelyn Byrd, at the Franklin, in this city, left yesterday for her home in Winchester. Miss Beverley has been much entertained during her short visit to Mrs. Byrd, who is a very lovely and charming girl, and belongs to one of the best known families in the South.

Mrs. Boocock's Luncheon.

Mrs. Murray Boocock gave a bridge luncheon at her home, "Castalia," in Albemarle county, Friday afternoon. Her guests for the affair included Mrs. Baker, Mrs. Shields, Mrs. Longfield, Mrs. Charles, Edward Palmer, Mrs. William Money, Mrs. Julian Morris, Mrs. Russell, Miss Helen Money, Mrs. Josie Thomas Lewis, Mrs. Chittenden, Miss Cora Seward, Mrs. Charles Hancock and Miss Lewis.

Meeting Afternoon.

The Williams Memorial Circle of King's Daughters will meet this afternoon at the residence of Mrs. Charles G. Boaser, 165 North Sixth Street, at half-past 4 o'clock. A full attendance is desired.

Letters Received.

Letters received from Mrs. J. Alton Cabell bring delightful accounts of a visit paid to friends in Princeton, and also in New York City. At both places Mr. and Mrs. Cabell were entertained at a number of functions given in their honor, sailing later from New York to spend several months in Europe. Mr. and Mrs. Cabell will take the Southern Mediterranean trip and will spend most of their time in southern Europe.

Birthday Party.

Mr. and Mrs. L. C. Schweickert entertained at their home in Highland Park on Friday, February 9, in celebration of the birthday of their daughter, Minnie. The parlors and dining-room were decorated in color scheme of pink and white and vases of pink flowers were used on the mantel and table.

Among the guests were Misses Ruth

CHANGED HER APPEARANCE

Friends Living Only Two Blocks Away Did Not Recognize this Lady and Refused to Speak to Her

Atlanta, Ga.—Some of my friends, who live only two blocks from me, did not know me when they met me on the street the other day," writes Mrs. Mattie Christopher, of this city.

"I look so much better now than they ever saw me. They were surprised, and asked me to excuse them for not speaking to me."

I told them I felt better, too, and that it was all due to Cardui, the woman's tonic. I had suffered for 20 years with female trouble, which, at times, was so bad that for six weeks I would go on without seeing anything.

Home remedies and doctors' medicines did me no good, but Cardui worked like a charm.

I will always praise Cardui for what it has done for me.

If you are pale, don't use the rouge pot and change your appearance by artificial means.

Follow a more natural course and take Cardui, the woman's tonic.

It will enrich your blood, build up your constitution and make you look better and feel better, as it has been doing for other ladies during the past half a century.

Get a bottle from your druggist. He sells and recommends it.

VAS SUAS ARE SPENT BY LOVERS OF HUNT

Cost of Sport Is Increasing Because of Necessity of Replacing Fences.

BY LA MARQUISE DE FONTENAY. UNTIL it has always been a pastime for which the English and the Irish have been prepared to make heavy pecuniary sacrifices. In fact the amount of money spent each year on hunting amounts to millions of dollars. Now, owing to the fact that most of the leading hunts undertake to fence at their own expense, with timber, the cost has increased very much, and which have been fenced with wire. The latter is anathema to every rider to hounds, and has been the cause of numerous fatalities to man, woman and beast. Indeed, it threatened at one time to put hunting out of existence altogether, owing to the fact that neither hounds nor riders could remove the wire at the beginning of the hunting season, and then replace it when it was hunting season. The fact that the cost of existence and that the most valuable are those owned by great peers and territorial magnates, who regard it as an obligation to their family to keep up the hunt at their own expense, regardless of cost.

Lord Ashburnham, who has lately been figuring in court in England in connection with the will of his young wife, the late George Ashburnham, who died last year, was one of the great hunters. He was a member of the hunt and was a great hunter. He was a member of the hunt and was a great hunter. He was a member of the hunt and was a great hunter.

The London Times of February 11, 1912, contained an announcement to the effect that Lord Ashburnham had died. It was the first intimation, even to the editors of the "Times," that Lord Ashburnham was married. It had always been supposed that he was an inveterate hunter, and that he was the only member of the Ashburnham family who had been a hunter. He was a member of the hunt and was a great hunter. He was a member of the hunt and was a great hunter.

On Friday afternoon the Art Class of the Woman's College entertained a number of friends. The chief feature of the program was a talk by Mrs. Jeffery Montague, a true student of the college, and the program was a very interesting one. Later in the spring, the art department will hold a public exhibition.

Valentine Affairs. The week will be full of interesting parties of the children. The Junior Auxiliary and St. Paul's Brotherhood will give a Valentine party with Mother Goose shadow pictures this afternoon at 4:30 o'clock. It will be given in the parish house of Holy Trinity Church.

Another Valentine party, in which the little folks are interested, will be given in Oliver Park Assembly Hall this afternoon from 4 to 6 o'clock. All children are invited.

Huguenot Society. Mademoiselle Marie d'Aubigne, of Paris, France, who is visiting this country in the interests of Protestantism in France, will address the Richmond Huguenot Society this evening at 8:15 o'clock on "The Moral and Material Condition of the Working Man in the North of France," dwelling particularly on conditions in and about Maubeuge—a mining district in the department of Nord, in which the Huguenot Society is particularly interested. The meeting will be held in the audience room of the Woman's Club, and will take the place of the winter mass-meeting usually held about this time. Members of the Huguenot Society and all those interested in the subject are cordially invited to be present.

Mademoiselle Marie d'Aubigne, who is a daughter of the distinguished historian, Charles Marie d'Aubigne, and sister of the equally well-known minister, Charles Marie d'Aubigne, who visited Richmond a few years ago, is the guest of Mrs. Reginald Gilham, at 11 East Franklin Street.

F. Garnett Tabb, has gone to Harrison, Conn., where he is attending an insurance meeting.

A German of much interest will be given by the dancing class of Mrs. W. H. Powell, at Belvidere Hall, from 9 to 11 o'clock this evening. Herbert P. Powell, dancing with Miss Helen Thornton, will lead the German. These classes will continue throughout the Lenten season, and all members are cordially invited to be present at the dance this evening.

In and Out of Town. Mrs. Frank Houghton, formerly of Richmond, will arrive in this city today, and will be the guest of Mrs. J. J. Hickok, at 821 West Franklin Street.

Mrs. Robert Bingham, of Asheville, N. C., and Mrs. Woodward, of Spartanburg, S. C., are visiting Professor and Mrs. P. C. Woodward, at 1500 West Avenue.

Miss Charlotte Tyler, of Stillman, West Va., is the guest of her aunt, Mrs. John S. Harwood, of 2000 Monument Avenue.

Miss Carrington, of Lexington, is visiting Miss Cary Chalmers at her home in this city.

Hal Floyd Byrd has returned to Winchester, after spending the week end in Richmond.

Mrs. G. Carrington Moseley and Miss Louise Lewis, of this city, are guests of Mrs. George Venable in Lynchburg this week.

Mr. and Mrs. William Harbert, of Cincinnati, are visiting Mr. and Mrs. John D. Pette, on Park Avenue.

BOY FLIES ON GLIDER

Begins Ascent From Hill and Soars About 100 Yards. Allentown, Pa., February 12.—In spite of the cold weather James Frank, sixteen, of East Allentown, yesterday made a successful flight of about 150 yards with a glider, which he had copied after the Wright glider. It looks like an aeroplane, minus a motor, and being built on skids, the start must be made from an incline.

His take-off was from the frozen snow at the top of a hill like a toboggan. True to his calculations, he was able to guide the machine into the air, and after his flight landed easily.

Young Frank will not delay constructing a larger glider for longer flights.

FREEZES TO DEATH

Lewis B. Garber Found Dead in Home at Staunton. (Special to The Times-Dispatch.) Staunton, Va., February 12.—Lewis B. Garber, fifty-six years old, froze to death Saturday night or Sunday in his house west of the city. He was found last night in the house. Saturday he was intoxicated and was being home by two young men. After entering, he seems to have fallen on the floor unable to care for himself. There was no fire in the house and the temperature was only a few degrees above zero. He lived in the house alone, his wife and two children having left him. He was a moulder by trade.

This is the second man who has frozen to death here within a month.

Commissioners Issued. (Special to The Times-Dispatch.) Raleigh, N. C., February 12.—Commissioners were issued to-day for the officers of Troop A, North Carolina National Guard, the cavalry company just organized at Lincoln, for which the War Department is to turn over the equipment of the troops, at a cost of about $5,000. The officers are: W. A. Fair, Captain; J. O. Shuford, First Lieutenant; and J. S. Rinehardt, Jr., second Lieutenants.

The latter, on investigation, turned out to be a petty tradesman, very respectable, but of most modest origin. The countess lived a very retired life, was altogether unknown to the great world, and even to her husband's relatives. But he was devoted to her, and when she died, in 1899, he mourned her deeply and sincerely.

Lord Ashburnham is a man of great erudition and of somewhat contradictory characteristics; for, whereas in all domestic matters, at home and abroad, he is a devoted Catholic, he is actually a founder of the White Horse, or Jacobite, League—in domestic matters he is a radical and a home ruler. He is likewise a devout Catholic in order to increase the fortune of his only daughter, to whom he is passionately devoted, he sold, about twelve years ago, the greater part of his world-famous library, the gems of which, including the Mazarin Bible and the MS. Evangelium given by Emperor Louis the Pious to the Convent of Noble Canonesses which he founded in A. D. 824, at Lindau, on Lake Constance, he gave to the possession of J. Pierpont Morgan, and now figuring in the latter's library in New York.

The Prince George of Battenberg, who has just been appointed to the great British battleship Colossus, as admiralship, is the eldest of the two sons of Vice-Admiral Prince Louis of Battenberg, now a Lord of the Admiralty, at Whitehall, and for many years remembered as having brought an English cruiser squadron across the Atlantic, some four or five years ago, to visit New York, Annapolis, etc., being everywhere most hospitably entertained. His son, Prince George, is twenty years of age, and is, through his mother, a great-grandson of Queen Victoria. Princess Louise of Battenberg, being the eldest of the children of Grand Duchess Alix of Russia, and consequently sister of the present Grand Duke of Hesse, of the Carlsruhe, and of Princess Henry of Prussia, he has inherited the good looks and the stately stature of his handsome father, has been a universal favorite on board the Colossus, and bids fair to make himself just as much liked on the Colossus.

The latter is commanded by Captain Dudley de Chair, M. V. O., naval A. D. C. to the King, and for many years naval attaché of the British embassy at Washington. He had an experience as admiralship in the Egyptian war of 1882, and is probably unique in the annals of the British navy.

Dudley de Chair, who is a native of Canada, has been in the service of the British navy for many years, and has been in the service of the British navy for many years.

Lord Alcester, "the swell of the ocean," commanding the British fleet that bombarded Alexandria, to convey dispatches to the British Government, and to the outskirts at Ramleh. Losing his way, he was taken prisoner, and brought before Arabi Pasha, the rebel leader, who sent him off under a strong escort to Cairo. As it had been intimated that the prisoner was no less a personage than Lord Alcester, himself, his arrival in the capital was hailed by thousands of natives, yelling that the English had been defeated. When he returned from the train to Cairo it was realized that his extremely boyish appearance precluded him from being passed off as the British commander-in-chief, so he was escorted to be the latter's son, and was then paraded through the streets, on public exhibition, as a type of the foe.

Afterwards he was lodged in a palace belonging to one of the junior princes of the Khedivial family, and treated with the utmost consideration during his five weeks of captivity that ensued, and became an especial pet of the princesses and ladies of the harem, his house, enjoying the freedom of their various harems, treated by them as a particularly comely youngster of no consequence.

That they were justified in this attitude, is perhaps best shown by the fact that he resented it, a reflecting upon his claims to be an officer of Her Majesty's navy, and consequently a full-fledged gentleman. His kindly treatment was done in part to his extremely good looks, though of a very boyish character; and likewise to the circumstance that Arabi Pasha was particularly anxious to show his magnanimity, and also to please old Ferdinand de Lesseps, whose good will he was anxious to retain, and who had interested himself in the late's behalf.

A good Piano is the greatest magnet you could put in your house. It fairly radiates a spirit of happiness, song and laughter. Irresistibly it draws the family circle closer, keeps the young folks at home, and exercises a refining influence.

The greatest need to-day is happiness. Anything that will create more pleasure is a necessity—not a luxury. The small amount you invest in a Stieff Piano bears rich interest in the things that make this life worth while. Why not step in to-morrow. See how easy it is to own a Piano—paying for it as you go along.

BONES 50,000 YEARS OLD

Found by Bingham Expedition in Peru Under 100 Feet of Alluvial Soil. New Haven, Conn., February 12.—Professor Bowman, of the Yale Geological Department, after a more careful study of the human bones found by the Bingham expedition to Peru, estimates their minimum age at 50,000 years instead of 10,000 years, the original estimate.

The bones were located under 100 feet of alluvial soil of the glacial age. Dr. Eaton, of the Yale Museum, has determined beyond doubt that the bones belong to a race type like that of the present Indians of Peru.
